

Petitioners want the RIGHT to call me for up to 18 months after I told them I no longer want to do business with their company and that's WRONG for Wisconsin.

Petitioners want the RIGHT to sell me anything under the sun because I once bought a product or service from their company and that's WRONG for Wisconsin.

Petitioners want the RIGHT to give away my name and telephone so any "affiliate" can call me and that's WRONG for Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin No-Call list has served to protect consumers' privacy and should not be preempted. As an elected municipal official, I urge the Commission continue the principle of local control and rebuff this attempt by big telemarketers to invade my privacy. Deny the petition.
